THANK YOU!!!

"Where do I begin with this?" I grumbled in frustration to myself last spring, planning for this year's yearbook course. Now, the yearbook is done; the files are floating in the cyber-ether; so why am I still struggling with the question? The answer: I have no words that can adequately express my thanks to this year's staff of the Spectrum. There could have been no better group of young people to help me this year. The veteran staffers were willing to share their knowledge acquired from previous years' experiences, and the newbies were ready to learn and to offer their suggestions. What more could one ask? Of course we had our troubles, and there were many times when the challenges seemed daunting, but we conquered them all together.

I would like to thank all of my students this year for your patience and understanding as I worried about the mosquitoes, when the alligators were eating us alive. I worried about minute details; you worried about the proverbial big picture. We balanced ourselves well.

Of special note are several students who stayed late, came in over breaks, and strove daily to put out the best book we could. Joni Becker, I can never repay you for the unwavering effort. I could hand you any task of any scale, and you would obliterate my expectations again and again. Thank you for spring break and your dedication, coming in every day and inspiring me not to give up—and to wake up early on "vacation." Molly Lundquist, your self-effacing humor was a much-needed break from the daily chaos. Your eye for detail reassured me that I could trust your judgment. Joni and Molly, I appreciate your understanding that respect immediately given results in respect quickly earned; I marvel at your talent and your calm resolve. I think I need a juice box ;)

Megan Jones, your patience with my cynicism and sarcasm is appreciated. I value your challenge to be better than that. Alyssa Reeb and Jamie Boswell, you got the Clue jokes and asked how you could help when I looked stressed. You knew when I needed some help and jumped to volunteer. Melissa Koeppel, Tiffany McCormick, Victoria Church, Dana Fischer: you had a vision and the commitment to accomplish it. You saw your sections through with team work and professionalism. Dana, you were my bouncer. Thank you for always sharing your opinion...loudly. Leah Novo, you stepped up to the challenges and became a leader and a role model for others. I hope to see you on the team again next year. Sarah Sterns, you are an honorary staff member; thank you for completing assignments for a class you were not taking. Seriously, who does that? Thank you all.

Katie and Baby K., thank you for understanding the late nights and early mornings. Sometime in late August, I hope to anxiously and happily ask myself once more, "Where do I begin with this?"

With sincere gratitude,
Mr. Kleismit

To create the book you are holding, the advisors of the Ken East yearbook have relied on a number of people.

To the coaches, parents, athletes and students who have furnished us with pictures this year, thank you. Your contributions have made the book what it is.

We would also like to offer our heart-felt thanks to the following, who have given both practical and moral support:
